

Hasies en Gansies

Bespoke baby and children's products

Prepared 25 September 2026

RECOMMENDED PRIMARY CATEGORY

Baby & Children's Boutique

Underlying business activity: Retail sale of baby and children's goods, with a bespoke and personalised product focus.

Classification basis

A business category is best determined by the primary customer group, the nature of the products sold, and the way the business earns revenue. On that basis, Hasies en Gansies falls clearly within the baby and children's retail sector.

1. Primary customer group

The products are designed for babies, toddlers and young children, or purchased by parents and gift buyers for that age group.

2. Core product range

Dummy chains, dummies, children's toys, baby accessories and related gift items are all baby or children's goods.

3. Commercial activity

The business sells physical products directly to customers. Its underlying commercial activity is therefore retail rather than a service business.

4. Market positioning

Bespoke, personalised, pastel and premium describe the style and positioning of the range. They refine the category but do not replace the core retail category.

Classification result: The combination of a child-focused customer base, baby and children's products, and direct retail sales supports Baby & Children's Boutique as the most accurate primary brand category.

Why not simply "Gift Shop" or "Toy Store"?

Those categories describe only part of the offering. A gift shop is defined by the occasion of purchase, while a toy store is defined mainly by toys. Hasies en Gansies has a broader range centred on babies and children, including practical accessories, personalised products and toys. The wider baby and children's category therefore describes the business more completely.

RECOMMENDED CATEGORY USAGE

How the category should be presented

Different platforms may use slightly different labels. The business activity remains the same.

Use	Recommended wording	Reason
Brand positioning	Baby & Children's Boutique	Best reflects the curated, premium and bespoke nature of the range.
General business description	Retail sale of baby and children's goods	Describes the underlying commercial activity in plain business terms.
Social / marketplace listing	Baby & Children's Goods Store	Suitable where a platform expects a store-style category rather than a boutique descriptor.
Secondary category	Personalised Gifts	Useful where personalisation is a major part of the product offering.
Secondary category	Children's Accessories	Captures dummy chains, related baby accessories and similar future products.
Secondary category	Toy Store	Relevant as an additional descriptor if toys become a substantial part of the range.

Product-to-category check
